Join us for the 4th Annual Midtown Education Summit!

The Midtown Education Summit is a free event that aims to inform parents of the available PreK-12 school options in Midtown Indy. This event brings more than 50 schools under one roof, allowing parents to speak to staff from those schools and ask questions to help determine which school is the best fit for the educational needs of their student. This year we are excited to have Dr. Lori Desautels join us at the event to talk about Educating Our Kids Using Science of the Brain.

Dr. Lori Desautels is an assistant professor at both the undergraduate and graduate levels at Butler University. Before coming to Butler University, Lori was an Assistant Professor at Marian University and earlier on taught children and adolescents with emotional challenges in the upper elementary grades. She has also worked as a school counselor in Indianapolis.
